

Dear visitor to this Home on the worldwide web,

This website is updated and improved in a continuous process and therefore some of its content is only available in text format while other presentations can be viewed as PowerPoint presentations. Please consider this as you become familiar with the material which you find in the various sections.

You can access the main content of this website in text format under New Content where newly added presentations will be announced in the future.

Because of its centrality to human life, Heart and True Love are the main focus on this website with the goal of achieving the realization of a loving world where people truly care for one another.

In the section The Inner Heart you can learn various facts about the human Heart and its central position in the body. Becoming familiar with the sections True Love and A Loving Heart may be a source of inspiration to expand your ability to love in a selfless way.

The theme New Worldview can be helpful to get a broader view of the world including the understanding why Darwin's evolution theory is wrong and why the Big Bang has never happened. That the universe was created based on a design is supported by many facts which are addressed in sections like Sacred Geometry, Miracle of Love and Light and Water.

Through the sections The Solution, A Bright Future and Conclusions you can gain deep insights into the nature of our Creator and what kind of changes need to be achieved in our Hearts so that we can become one with our Ultimate Origin and enjoy a happy future.

You are whole-heartedly invited to offer your precious insights concerning the themes addressed on this website under the section Your Inspiration.

On the right-hand side of the main picture with the "Thought of the day" you find the link Heart and Love which offers a series of 3 minutes films with uplifting thoughts in connection with the main theme of this website. Through viewing the short videos you may gain valuable insights which motivate you to focus more on these most fundamental values.

Please feel free to give your feedback in the Guestbook and get in contact with those who support the goals of this Home on the Internet which was created as a focal point for sharing centred on Heart and True Love.

If the website is not properly displayed with the Internet Explorer please use another browser like Firefox or Google Chrome in order to access the website. Also note that if you click on the picture you will see the presentation in form of a video and if you click on the title underneath the picture you can view the PowerPoint presentation.

Only if we concentrate on what really matters in life, building relationships where we can share from the bottom of our Heart, will we be able to experience the joy and happiness we long for deep inside.

Let us reach out beyond any kind of religious or cultural differences in the awareness that True Love is indeed the highest value we can achieve as members of the worldwide Family of Man, destined to care for every human being and the beauty of creation that can bring much joy to our Heart.

At the end of the day, a person's life is evaluated by the extent to which a man or woman contributed to the lives of other people – how much Heart and Love he or she shared with others. May we help one another to experience deep fulfilment in life by building Heart to Heart relationships where Love can flow freely.

Yours sincerely,

Nikolaus Beutl
