

The Natural World teaches us about our Creator

- (1) Human beings are created to become men and women who develop their most precious core, the inner Heart, to the fullest by learning to love and to live in the presence of God
 - (2) The purpose of our life is imprinted in the Heart. Therefore it is decisive to follow our Heart
 - (3) According to the information science and the laws of probability it is impossible that the immensely complex structure and functions of the human body have developed by chance
 - (4) This fact can be understood from many viewpoints, starting with the DNA which contains finely structured information comparable to the content of many books in each of the 50 to 100 trillion cells of the body. You can learn more about this fact in the section Miracle of Love
 - (5) Just as nobody would take you seriously if you claimed that the books on your shelf have come into existence by chance it is truly unreasonable to say that the incredibly complex structures found in each cell of the human body has come about based on random mutations
 - (6) Once we realize that there is no way to reasonably deny the existence of God, which is a well-established fact based on scientific discoveries, the only question remaining concerning our Creator is the issue of what kind of attributes we ascribe to our Ultimate Origin
 - (7) Because Heart and True Love are at the centre of human existence it naturally follows that these fundamental aspects represent also the essence of our Creator as a Being with a boundless Heart, dedicated to loving all people and the entire natural world in a selfless way
 - (8) When we understand that nothing is more important than Love and that Love can only exist in a relationship, it is also clear that not only human beings need each other in order to find fulfilment in Love but such a relationship exists also between our Eternal Parent and us
 - (9) From these insights it follows that the time to look for the origin and ultimate cause of our existence through religion and science is over because the answers are already there, well established through the indescribably complex structures and functions found in the natural world which still represent for scientists a mystery, pointing unmistakably to the existence of a personal Creator, whom countless believers of various religions experience as clear reality
 - (10) The main task that humanity needs to achieve in these first years of the 21st century is to recognize our responsibility not only in front of the natural world but especially towards our fellow human beings based on the understanding that we are not only interconnected but indeed responsible for one another as members of the worldwide Family of Man rooted in one common Creator who exists as our Loving Heavenly Parent who cares for all His/Her children
- These ten points are logical; they cannot be denied based on human natural reasoning. The decisive question is therefore: How many people continue to ignore the scientifically established fact of the existence of a Creator of the universe and how many of us take full responsibility for what we know and put Heart and True Love at the centre of our concerns?
- (11) Just as the natural world is an irrefutable proof of there being a wonderful Designer behind the existence of the universe, there is no way to reasonably deny that our Creator is a Being of True Love because Love is what all people long for in their deepest soul. This fact is obvious for everybody who observes the world from the viewpoint of Heart that longs to be united in Love
 - (12) Upon looking deeper it is clear that True Love shows the way and lightens the path towards the realization of a peaceful world where all people can live in happiness and deepest fulfilment

(13) Love allows us to recognize the inner beauty of the world; ultimately it is True Love that holds the universe together as it is created out of the Loving Heart of our Eternal True Parent. The realization of a world of True Love is the greatest project that ever existed in the history of humanity. Let us invest all our Heart and soul into this valuable task out of Love for mankind

(14) True Love is the guiding force that brings people together and allows them to become one in Heart. The fundamental nature of Love is peace and harmony in the soul. It enables us to become one with the divine core in all beings and things, one with the Heart of the universe.

(15) Let us think of compassion, mercy, understanding, kindness, a caring Heart, peace, truth, beauty, goodness. Are these intellectual concepts or precious contents which we would like to experience in life? Just as these terms stand for something valuable it should be natural for every human being that the ultimate source of such priceless contents, our Loving Creator, is bound to be the inner centre of our Heart and we are destined to be one in Love with Him/Her

(16) True Love fills the Heart with deep desire and brings forth the noblest qualities. It is tender and powerful at the same time. It comprises such a vast realm of emotions and feelings that seemingly a lifetime is not enough to describe all aspects which True Love include. E.g., True Love gladly forgets personal desires in favour of fulfilling what others long to experience. It is capable of melting any hardness of the Heart and secure the realization of the God's ideal

(17) Nothing can stop True Love because it is the essence of life. Everything in this wonderful cosmos flows in an endless stream of Divine Love. True Love is the strongest force of attraction in the whole universe. It connects Heart to Heart, living beings to living beings, things to things. True Love permeates everything and knows no boundaries of time and space, it is truly eternal

(18) True Love arises from the Heart of Hearts of human beings as sons and daughters of our Divine Parent. It is a most wonderful and immeasurably precious content which all people long for deep inside. We experience it to the extent that our Heart is pure. This website is dedicated to the task of giving inspiration and insight for the realization of an ideal world where Heart and True Love are at the centre, in accordance with the desire of our beloved Heavenly Parent

(19) True Love enables us to experience utmost joy and excitement. This Divine power and force stimulates the deepest sensations and lead us into the greatest wisdom of the Heart. It is always kind to all things and living beings; it strives to provide emotional protection and safety and to heal any wound in the Heart of the beloved, never ceasing to invest for the purpose of the whole to ensure the wellbeing of all existence in line with the precious ideal of creation

(20) When looking at all existence from the standpoint of a True Heart it is clear that Love is the very nature of the universe and its most fundamental law. True Love is shared without any thought centered on oneself, but gives freely from an unconditional Heart, always concerned about the happiness of its beloved. A loving Heart wants to convey peace and joy without end

(21) True Love is the universal bond that embraces everything, all things and every being into oneness. Everything in the cosmos only makes sense when seen from the viewpoint of Love. Through the eyes of True Love we can find not only the traces but the presence of our Creator in the wonders of the world we live in. We only need to become sensitive to this Divine Reality

The content offered on this website confirms the existence of our Creator as a Loving Parent from various viewpoints. The facts are all there. The only issue is dealing with them with our whole Heart and soul, taking full responsibility for existing problems and building a world where all people can live peacefully, united with God/Allah/Yahweh, and with one another

Let us show that we are mature sons and daughters of our Heavenly Parent and gladly work with a loving Heart until all people can enjoy the wellbeing which we desire for ourselves
